African Violet Society of America

The African Violet is still the most popular of all house plants. With a little care they can be in bloom all through the year. We grow them in a wide variety of color and foliage variations. Also, through cross pollination and raising from seed we originate some new variety variations each year. We select the most outstanding of these and place them on the market for your pleasure.

ABOUT NAMES-

With so many growers introducing new varieties each year, duplication of names is frequent. Because of this we are using SALEM as a series name for some of our own introductions and originations.

DESCRIPTIONS-

It sometimes happens that the above descriptions of two or more varieties sound alike. There is a difference but it is difficult to show these differences without going into more detail than space permits.
